EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. Claims 1-3 are pending in the instant application.
2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Benjamin E. Urcia (33,805) on February 15, 2006.

The application has been amended as follows wherein the following version of claim 1 replaces all prior versions in the application:

1. A communication device applied to wireless peripherals of a computer, said communication device comprising:
 at least two emitting devices including a first emitting device and a second emitting device, said first and second emitting devices respectively communicating at a first communication channel and a second communication channel, each of said emitting devices continually emitting a respective plurality of identical whole signal sections in a time interval; and a receiving device jumping at least between said first and second communication channels, the time of said receiving device among each of said communication channels comprising a communication channel phase lock time, ~~and~~ a reception time of an entire one of the plurality of identical ~~the whole signal sections, and the time of any partial signal section between the phase lock time and the reception time.~~

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-3 are allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Claims 1-3 are allowed because the prior art of record does not disclose or obviate the at least two emitting devices which each continually emit a respective plurality of whole signal sections and a reception time comprising a phase lock time, a reception time of a whole signal section, and a time of any partial signal segments between the phase lock time and the reception time.
